LIBRARY UPDATES

Did you know you can now access E-books and E-journals off Campus?

Daystar university library has recently acquired a web proxy server "EZproxy" that allows off campus access and single sign in to our subscribed e-books and e-journals databases. Many of these databases require verification for off-campus access because of license agreements between the library and its vendors and publishers.

Once signed in to the proxy server, EZproxy dynamically rewrites URLs of electronic resources provided by database vendors, producing the same effect as if the off-campus user was accessing them via the Daystar University's network or from a Library computer terminal.

Who can use EZproxy?

Current Daystar University students, faculty, and staff members are able to use EZproxy and can log in using their username and password. Kindly register with the librarians at the circulation desk for the assigning of the username and password. You can also send an email to jwambua@daystar.ac.ke or skungu@daystar.ac.ke

How to use EZproxy

- Type the Url: http://webopac.daystar.ac.ke:2048/login
- Sign into the remote access portal for all electronic resources as shown in the snapshot below

- After signing in, the following page appears with links to subscribed e-books and e-journals

- You can now open the link to the database of your choice and access the books and journals at the comfort of your office, home or mobile phone.
